A large graphic design for the 'year of the arts' at Wake Forest University. It features a large, stylized heart shape with the word 'ARTS' written across it in a bold, sans-serif font. Below the heart, the text 'year of the arts' is written in a cursive script, followed by 'Wake Forest University 96-97' in a smaller, sans-serif font. The entire graphic is set against a dark background with some abstract shapes.

pump up the volume

The second annual Fall Fling was held on September 27, 1996, and in every aspect, it was more successful than the year before. Fall Fling was held on the Mag Quad; the day was a little cloudy with a small breeze, but warm enough to be enjoyable.

There were several activities that made the event a success, one was a performance by campus band Evan McNary who kicked off the affair. Temporary Reprieve, one of Wake Forest's acapella groups also performed a selection of songs. Lastly,

Dean Hamilton and his son took the stage, and he performed with his famous banjo. While the entertainment was playing, WFU's Yearbook Staff gave upperclassmen their copy of the 1995-1996 Howler. Aramark, the campus food service, provided picnic style food for Fall Fling. Kites were also given out for the students to fly in the breeze.

Fall Fling was the Resident Student Association's first activity of the 1996-1997 school year. The success of this year's event was partly due to the tranquil mood of the day.

candy, ghosts and games

Carnivals, costumes, and candy were the main attractions around Wake Forest University on October 30 this year. Hundreds of children and volunteers were a part of Project Pumpkin. Each year since 1989, the Volunteer Service Corps has sponsored this special program for Halloween. Children from the Winston-Salem community were welcomed to our campus to trick-or-treat on the Quad and in surrounding residence halls. The ghosts and goblins were led by over 600 student volunteer escorts into Poteat, Huffman, Kitchin, Davis, Efir, and Taylor Halls, where the children received a variety of sweets.

Carnivals, set up in the lounges of Davis and Taylor Halls, were sponsored by many campus organizations. These carnivals provided fun filled games for the younger children, such as a cake walk, pie-in-the-face contest, bean bag toss, and bowling. Each child received redeemable tickets for participating in the games. The jugglers and face painters ran the carnival on the Quad, while groups such as Chi Rho and Temporary Reprieve entertained the almost one thousand children, some of which were mentally or physically handicapped.

Two haunted houses added an element of fear to this event for the older children who visited our campus. Almost one-third of the student body participated in Project Pumpkin, whether they were escorts, committee members, or participated in agency plunges. Everyone's help was appreciated to provide support for the thirty-two after-school agencies that attended Project Pumpkin. Over 4,780 hours were volunteered to make Project Pumpkin 1996 a huge success.

a moravian tradition

Since the establishment of the Winston-Salem community, the Moravian Lovefeast has been a tradition. Approximately 2,300 students, faculty, and community members come to our campus to celebrate this event in Wait Chapel. Wake Forest has been celebrating this tradition for 31 years now and it will probably continue for many more decades.

The event started at 8 p.m. on December 8. Many arrive early to enjoy the music of the Messiah Moravian Band and the incandescent light that the luminaries on the quad give off.

Students shared love buns and the traditional sweet coffee. Students sang Christmas hymns after the conclusion of the program, which included the Wake Forest Handbell Choir, the Flute Choir, and the Concert Choir.

art is dialogue

"Art possesses great power to communicate," said James Earl Jones during Founder's Day Convocation. Wait Chapel was packed with administration, faculty, students, and members of the Winston-Salem community. Each of them came to hear the words of wisdom Jones would bestow on them and the words of hope he would give for the future of the arts.

President Hearn began the 163rd celebration of the founding of the University. Others were honored for their achievements and dedication to Wake Forest. Senior Charlotte Opal was honored as a Rhodes Scholar. Several awards were presented during convocation. Retired professor of mathematics, Ivey Gentry, was awarded the medallion of merit, the university's highest honor. The Award for Excellence in Research was given to Gloria Munday, an associate professor of biology, and the Reid-Doyle Prize for Excellence in Teaching was awarded to Helga Welsh, an assistant professor of politics.

As a child, Jones said his exposure to art was limited to folk art. He said art was all around him in music, movies, stories, and books. Until he had to read his "Ode to Grapefruit" in high school, Jones had a stuttering problem, but after that reading he began to realize the power of speech. Jones said that we breathe art from the atmosphere whether we know it or not. In the absence of folk art there is less community, less communication, and less bonding said Jones. Jones asked us to support the arts because "they are necessary for survival. Jones "believes we should elevate the extraordinary, but the extraordinary is all around us." Jones hopes that this Year of the Arts will remain with us throughout the rest of our lives. "May the arts be with you." - James Earl Jones

change of pace

Spring Break is one of the most anticipated breaks of the school year. It is one time that many students get to go on vacation with their friends and relax after a tough week of midterms.

For the past couple of years the ACC tournament falls on the same week as Spring Break, and many dedicated Screamin' Demons, students, band members, and athletes give up their break to follow the basketball team. Unfortunately, this year Wake lost in the second round to Carolina.

Another option many students explore for Spring Break is Wake Alternative Break. Over 60 Wake students helped with different community service projects across the nation. Teams of students traveled to places such as inner-city Boston and a Sioux reservation.

Many students go to the beach with a group of friends or with sorority and fraternity groups. Some students also use the break to return home and relax.

No matter what a student's Spring Break adventure may have been, most return to school rejuvenated, ready to finish the spring semester.

When the stress of class gets to be a little too much, you always know there's a relief right outside your door. With such a gorgeous campus, there's always an open field to play frisbee in, or basketball courts to play a pickup game.

Fortunately, the weather in North Carolina allows for students to spend a large amount of time outside, especially in the fall and in the spring. Because of the mild winter this year, students were able to keep up with outdoor activities far into December.

The students at Wake Forest are very active and are very resourceful when coming up with new and fun outdoor activities. There are also some nearby parks, such as Hanging Rock, where students can study and exercise.

playing in the mud

Over the next couple of years the aesthetics of our campus will be changing. Many projects are underway as of this year. Complaints from students about the muddy conditions can be heard regularly, but so can praises of the wonderful services we will soon be providing.

Construction crews broke ground on the new Polo Residence Hall which will sit across from North Residence Hall and Student Apartments. Polo Hall will house 194 upperclassmen students, and will offer townhouse-style living. The building should be finished for the start of the 1998 fall semester.

Also in the plans for the next year, is the new academics building between Calloway Hall and Carswell Hall. This building will be the home to the psychology and language departments, and will be 80,000 square-feet.

The information systems department along with ROTC will move into the indoor tennis complex after its renovation. This will provide a central location for all computer technology departments. After ROTC moves out of Reynolda Gymnasium, the Student Health Services Center will move in to that location.

Other construction projects include the renovation of Wait Chapel, the renovation of Luter Hall, and the replacement of the balconies on Taylor and Davis Halls.

These projects will make serious improvements to Wake Forest's campus, and will provide state-of-the-art facilities for students, faculty, and staff.

the wait IS OVER

The anticipated implementation of the Plan for the Class of 2000 finally came to an end. Every member of the freshmen class was issued an IBM Think Pad during orientation. Therefore, it became commonplace to see computers in the classroom, outside on Mag Quad, and anywhere else on campus.

LeeAnn Hodges

Kara Lassen

Carlton Ward

The change stirred up a multitude of feelings from faculty and students. Some were in full support of the plan, while others violently objected to the computerization of our students. The change did encompass many areas of student life. Changes were noticeable in the classroom and in the residence halls. It has become a necessity to check your electronic mail on a daily basis because it is such an accepted form of communication.

Some of the faculty and administration believe that the computerization of Wake Forest will make our students more competitive in the work force. It's hard to know what the outcome of this program will have on Wake Forest students. We all hope that it is a positive one.

graphic rant at a former boyfriend. Morissette delivers the deeply personal lyrics with a dramatic voice and a dynamic rhythm. MIDDLE: A R&B pop singer named Toni Braxton hit the charts about three years ago and hasn't left. Her latest hit album, "Secrets", blends her rich, smooth voice with a versatility that continues to grow with each new hit. RIGHT: Celine Dion had the impossible good fortune of taking two movie songs —

"Beauty and the Beast" and "Because You Loved Me" (from Up Close and Personal) and took them to the top of the charts. The Canadian performer has a dynamic voice that raises even the most modest material to a level of loveliness. Her latest release, "Falling Into You" was a runaway hit

FAR RIGHT: President Bill Clinton and Vice President Al Gore maintained a strong and consistent lead in the campaign for four more years in the White House. RIGHT: Former Senator Bob Dole and Jack Kemp, an active Republican and former cabinet member, promised to give President Clinton a "run for his money."

ABOVE: Olympic gold medal winner Michael Johnson has what track coaches call speed endurance — the ability to carry top speed. He proved he had endurance-plus. Johnson won an unprecedented double win in the Summer Olympics in Atlanta. He won the 200 and the 400 meter race.

THIS PAGE: A deadly explosion disrupted the Olympic Games. Just as the Games were turning Atlanta into a globally metropolis overflowing with tourists, a black-powder pipe bomb packed with nails exploded in the crowded Centennial Park. One person died instantly and another died of a heart attack. ABOVE: Months after TWA Flight 800 exploded in midair in the summer of 1996, investigators were still searching for a cause. The Boeing 747 jumbo jet plunged into the Atlantic ocean off the coast of Long Island, N.Y., just minutes after taking off from Kennedy Airport for Paris. All 230 people on board were killed. The theories ranged from a mechanical failure to a bomb, from an exploded fuel tank to a missile.

Academically, the biggest news around Wake Forest is the new Plan for the Class of 2000 and all the new computer technology on campus. For many of us now, it is hard to imagine life at Wake Forest without the easy word-processing programs such as Microsoft Word and Word Perfect, 24 hour, easy access to the internet, and everyone's favorite, E-Mail! The new technology, especially in e-mail, has allowed separated friends all over the world to keep in close contact, and e-mail has helped students and faculty to communicate more frequently and comfortably. In some classes, professors have set up e-mail list servers in which their entire class can e-mail one another discussing their assigned readings, and anyone is free to respond. Some professors have set up their entire syllabus and all homework assignments on their web page on the internet, helping students to make use of their resources. Other professors have enhanced classroom discussion by requiring their students to e-mail a sentence summarizing the reading, and a list of questions which he/she will then use to lead the discussion in the classroom. The wonderful part of the new computer technology is the knowledge of the wide variety of its uses, which propels our university as a leader in computers as we approach the next millennium.

MAKING THE GRADE

Toward the end of the 1996-1997 academic year, the Wake Forest faculty voted in favor of a new plus/minus grading system, which will take effect the fall of 1998. The grading change means that pluses and minuses will factor into the final grade of the class, making 12 gradations instead of 5. Any grade with an added "plus" is worth .333, more than the typical letter grade, for example B+ is worth 3.333, and any grade with a "minus" is worth .333 less, such as B- is 2.667. This change to the grading system came as a surprise to many students, and some expressed displeasure at the faculty for not consulting the student body's opinions before making the decision. The overwhelming advantage of the plus/minus system is that it provides a greater accuracy and fairness in grading, giving both the student and the professor an opportunity to display a more accurate rating of student ability.

ACADEMICS

BYTE-SIZE

This year's freshman class is the first group of students to experience the new changes for the class of 2000. One major academic change is the requirement of a First-Year Seminar class in which fifteen students study an intellectual topic under a faculty member. Some seminars actually meet in a freshman residence hall in order to try to combine resident and academic life on campus. These classes provide a strong introduction to Wake Forest academics, as they are designed to develop critical thinking and verbal expression skills early in the student's college career. Students are encouraged in this first-year seminar to learn to use the technology that they have at their fingertips to communicate closely with their professor and to form a strong academic support group that will further their academic as well as social endeavors at Wake Forest University.

Running with the BEST

At the beginning of the season, Head Coach John Goodridge challenged the men's cross country team to continue the excellence achieved in recent years. His expectations were met. The team completed a successful season with three first place victories, a second place in the ACC Championships and a second place in the NCAA Regional Championships. This was a record year for Wake Forest as Junior Nolan Swanson became the first Deacon ever to win the ACC individual cross country championship. Swanson also received All-District honors at the NCAA Championship. Teammate, Jon Russell also had two home meet championships, All-District, and All-American honors.

Touch of CLASS

The women's cross country team finished another promising year, ending the season with a disappointing, but strong 5th place in the ACC Championship Meet. Senior Liz Cotter topped her excellent season with a ninth place finish in the ACC Meet, and earned All-ACC honors. The team had a lot of depth throughout the season, arising largely from a front-four pack consisting of senior Chrissy Person, freshman Janelle Kraus, sophomore Amy Wallace, and senior Liz Cotter.

Bound for the END ZONE

The Wake Forest football team started the season with two impressive wins against Appalachian State and Northwestern University. The Northwestern victory showed our awesome potential; however, the season proved more difficult than expected. The Deacons continued strong and confident despite a disappointing final conference ranking.

Quarterback, Brian Kuklick, finished the season with 396 passing attempts, 205 of them completed for a total of 2526 yards. Leading Wake in rushing was freshman Morgan Kane with 135 attempts, netting 490 yards. At the head of the defensive team was sophomore Kelvin Moses with 72 tackles and 56 assists.

Serving It UP

The volleyball team experienced their first year of competition since the existence of a previous program ranging from 1971 to 1986. The Wake Forest volleyball team closed out the season with a 10-23 record. It was a challenging year for the new Lady Deacons as they struggled through a long and tough Atlantic Coast Conference season. They began the season showing continuous improvement and experiencing a five-match winning streak. The team stayed competitive and aggressive throughout the remainder of the season, despite not finding victory in the conference. The season was marked by personal bests from athletes Katie Horne, Julie Cowley, Carri Walker, and Sharon Harmsworth.

Just for KICKS

The men's soccer team finished the season with a 12-7-1, 3-3-0 ACC record. An eventful season, they won all but one game played on their home field. The Deacons experienced a series of close games, as 12 of the 20 matches they played this season ended with a one goal margin. In the ACC Tournament, they won their first round match, in a tiring 1-0 overtime battle against North Carolina. The year was also a success for junior, Josh Timbers; sophomore, Serge Daniv; and junior Ihor Dotsenko who all three were named to the ACC All-Conference team. Among other honors, Timbers was also named ACC Player of the Week, along with junior, Ilija Zlatar.

Eyes on the GOAL

At the completion of their third season in the varsity program, the women's soccer team had accomplished much to be proud of. They finished the year with 14 wins and a 2-5 Atlantic Coast Conference record. On a roll, the team experienced a school-record eight game winning streak at the beginning of the season. They proceeded to bring home three tournament championships and five victories over teams which appeared in the Top 25. As if all this wasn't good enough, the team went on to beat the top ranked Duke Blue Devils in the first round of the ACC Tournament. Their season was concluded by a record win over Clemson University in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

Making great STRIDES

The field hockey team started the season ranked 14th, with a promising 5-2 start and an optimistic view toward its first postseason appearance.

Unfortunately, injury reaked havoc for the Lady Deacons.

At one point seven of the twenty-one athletes were out of commission due to a number of ailments. Despite the setback, the team continued to play aggressively and confident. They finished the season 7-2 and 1-7 in the ACC.

Off and RUNNING

The Wake Forest men's track and field team had a successful season. They finished sixth overall in the ACC. Senior Jon Russell won All-ACC honors in both the 5,000 and 10,000 meter events, completing one of the most eventful seasons for distance running in WFU history.

However, distance wasn't the only strong point for the Deacon runners. Freshman Nathan Knowles earned All-ACC honors, finishing runner-up in the 800 meter race. Junior Eric Dunn was the ACC runner up in the 1500 meters, while senior Pat Fitzgerald placed fourth. Wake Forest also placed fifth in the 1997 ACC Indoor Championships, led by two individual ACC Champions, Jon Russell and Nolan Swanson. In addition, the Distance Medley Relay team brought home victory, as they won the conference championship. Overall, the year was a great success for the Demon Deacon runners.

The Wake Forest Men's Basketball Team started the season with lofty ambitions and high expectations from their spirited fans. They began strong, bringing home victory from 15 consecutive games. Their stamina was somewhat weakened at the beginning of the second semester as Wake experienced some unexpected losses to ACC rivals. However, the Deacs continued to play strong and confident throughout the remainder of the season, despite a disappointing loss to North Carolina in the second round of the ACC Tournament.

Making a RACKET

The Wake Forest men's tennis team began the season with an impressive seven game winning streak before the opening of the ACC regular season. Unfortunately, the ACC proved tough for the men's team, as they battled against familiar rivals, and fell short of victory for the majority of the ACC matches. However, they brought home the gold in ten of the seventeen non-conference matches. The team finished 12-13 (2-6 in conference), solidifying a seventh place in the ACC. The team looks forward to a prosperous season in 1998, as all five of the single starters will be returning.

The Wake Forest women's golf team started the season as a qualified contender for the NCAA Championship by finishing second in the Rolex Fall Preview. They followed this tournament with another success, finishing first out of twenty-one teams in the Lady Paladin Invitational. Senior Laura Philo led her team throughout the year, ranking in the top seven in almost every tournament. Senior Sonia Bauer and junior Alexandra Armas played solid during the season, contributing toward an 11th place finish in the NCAA Tournament.

In Full SWING

The Wake Forest men's golf team had an overall successful season, beginning in October with a first place victory in the Taylor Made/Red River Classic. They continued strong throughout the season, with medium success. Oscar Sanchez led the team in the Carpet Capital Collegiate Classic with a first place finish, the first win of his young career.

The Deacons completed the season with an awesome third place finish in the NCAA East Regional and an astounding second in the NCAA Championships.

Class of

Carlton Ward

After the pomp and pageantry of graduation is over, the Wake Forest left behind by the Class of 1997 is a markedly different place from the one that greeted their arrival. When they moved into their dorms as freshmen, the Class of 2000 did not yet have its own plan. IBM Thinkpads were unheard of. If one wanted to send an e-mail message, Pine was the standard. Yet, remarkably, some things have remained the same. It's still difficult to find a parking spot. The Quad still gets rolled when we win a ball game. And Wake Forest still embodies the ideals of Pro Humanitate. As the school has confronted changes, so have the seniors in their own lives. Many are leaving this place with totally different life plans than the ones with which they entered. Some will continue their education in graduate school, others will begin their careers, while others will begin their search for something to do. For some, the future appears more certain than for others. Yet for all, memories of their tenure at Wake Forest will be cherished forever.

JUNIORS

Corinne Woodcock

With one academic year left before their graduation from Wake Forest, the Junior class immersed itself in preparation for the future. Having declared their majors, most juniors spent the year working to fulfill the requirements for their major or finish up their last few divisional courses. Some chose to spend a semester studying abroad, while others planned research to be carried out during their remaining time at Wake Forest. For many juniors, the year was a time to put serious thought into post-graduation plans. Many knew that they would continue on to graduate school after their undergraduate career, while others were busy working on polishing resumes and securing internships in preparation for future careers. Regardless of the plan, each junior faced the realization that the time was quickly approaching when they would be seniors and soon thereafter, Wake alumni. With this in mind, the juniors drove ahead through the 1996-97 academic year, anxiously awaiting the coming year and the excitement that it would bring.

SOPHOMORES

Lee Ann Hodges

Having one year under their belt, the Sophomore class walked around the campus as if they had been here for years. No longer were they faced with the awkwardness of being freshmen, as they faced a year filled with new experiences. During the spring each sophomore crossed the major hurdle of declaring a major. While some students have known for years exactly what they wish to major in and what careers they would like to pursue others are just now deciding. Many sophomores also reaped the benefits of the Plan for the Class of 2000. Last year, some of the members of the Class of 1999 participated in pilot programs in which they purchased an IBM Thinkpad computer and some participated in trial versions of the First Year Seminars which this year's freshmen were required to attend. The Sophomore class also encountered tragedy early during the year as classmates Maia Witzl and Julie Hansen were killed in an automobile accident. Despite a challenging year, the sophomores emerged ready to tackle the rest of their years at Wake Forest.

FRESHMEN

Kristin Thompson

The Class of 2000 came in with a plan. In addition to the students' own plans for majors, classes, and future ambitions, the University devised its own Plan for the Class of 2000, in hopes of placing freshmen at the forefront of technology and enhancing their Wake Forest education. Not only did each freshman receive an IBM Thinkpad computer, but they were also required to participate in a First-Year Seminar. First-Year seminars were small classes, many of which were held in students' dormitories and covered topics on everything from "Making Light of the Dark Ages" to "The Roots & Fruits of Biology." In addition to all these changes, the entering class was faced with the normal milestones of transition to college life—meeting their new roommate, learning their way around, deciding which professors to take, registering for classes for the first time, and choosing whether to pledge a fraternity or sorority. Faced with an entirely new world, the freshmen soon became immersed in college life as had the generations of Deacons before them.

COLOPHON

The 1997 Howler is the 95th edition of the Wake Forest University yearbook. The Howler is produced by the Student Publications Board of Wake Forest University. Opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the trustees, administration, faculty, staff, or students of Wake Forest University.

The Howler offices are located in room 500 of the Benson University Center. All correspondence should be sent to P.O. Box 7306, Reynolda Station, Winston-Salem, NC 27109. The office telephone number is (910) 758-5289.

This edition of the Howler was printed by Delmar/Herff Jones Publishing Company in Charlotte, North Carolina. Our representatives were Elizabeth Wearn and Joanne Lewis.

Copies of the book are provided as part of the tuition to all students of Wake Forest University. Financing for the publication is provided by the University through the Student Budget Advisory Committee.

This edition has 352 pages and has a trim size of twelve by nine inches. The press run was 2700 copies. Paper is 100 pound gloss. Smyth sewn binding, rounding, and backing with headbands were used. Four color processing is on 72 pages and spot color is on 48 pages.

All pages were designed on Macintosh LCII and LCIII computers using Aldus PageMaker 5.0. Pages were submitted on disk to Delmar/Herff Jones for publication.

Color and black and white photographs for this edition were taken by members of the Wake Forest University Photography Staff. Black and white film used included Kodak TMax 100, 400, and 3200 film. All black and white photographs were developed and printed in the staff darkrooms, located in room 506 of the Benson University Center. Color slides were taken on Kodak and Fuji film and processed locally by Photo Lab and Talton Photo Finishing. All portraits were taken by Carl Wolf Studios of Sharon Hill, Pennsylvania.

Advertising was solicited by Future 1st Global, Inc. out of Marietta, Georgia.

This book is copyrighted by the 1997 editor-in-chief and the Wake Forest University Publications Board. All rights reserved. From the EDITOR

On the campus of old Wake Forest there stood an elm tree that grew beside a well. Tacked to the tree was a "message board" of campus activities and events. Gradually the tree became known as the "Howler Tree." In 1903, these notes were bound for the first time in order to chronicle the year's events. And thus, the Wake Forest Yearbook was born with the first issue being dedicated to the tree that bore its name. Yearbooks have changed since that first year, but we hope that the Howler still chronicles the events of Wake Forest University. The staff set out to capture the memories of the 1996-1997 year. Thousands of hours and hundreds of pictures later, we hope that we have accomplished just that.

Thank you to the University Editor's Office, Sports Information, staff photographers, and all of those who submitted pictures.

A special thank you to Erin K. Grall, whose unwavering dedication and support brought new life to the book. She has given so much, not only to the Howler, but to many other aspects of the Wake Forest Community. Her creative support, design abilities, and hard work were all greatly appreciated and indispensable to the 1997 edition. Thanks also to Tamara Beavers. Even though she came on board late, she made many contributions that have been essential to the publication of this book.

The production of a yearbook can often be very taxing. However, my job was made so much easier by the love, support and understanding of my family. I am most appreciative for the help and encouragement from my mom and grandmother. I love you, I always will, and thank you for everything.

It has been a true honor to work on this book. I am very grateful for all that I have learned and experienced through this job. When I began working on the Howler my freshman year, I had the privilege of becoming acquainted with a very dear friend, Lavonn Bell. Over the past two years, I have enjoyed receiving her calls of encouragement and her words of advice. There are few people with as much school spirit and love for the Howler as Lavonn Bell. Lavonn, I hope that you enjoy the book. Go Deacs!

It has been our intention to capture at least a small part of the 1996-1997 year. If you are browsing through the book years from the day that you left the Reynolda campus, I hope that it elicits some of the wonderful memories that you experienced while at Wake Forest. Enjoy the book, and happy browsing.
